AUGUST 9 - AUGUST 22, 1959

KPFK 90.7 MC FM

Program Notes

The unending variety of the theater is reflected in this Folio period, beginning on August 9 with Ibsen's "The Wild Duck," performed by the San Francisco repertory theater, The Playhouse. On August 12, by arrangement with the Japan Broadcasting Corporation, we offer Aoi No Ue, the Noh play by Zenchiku from the Murasaki tale, broadcast in Japanese. The "New Vic" Shakespeare company of Van Nuys will broadcast several Shakespeare scenes, live from KPFK's studios, on the evening of August 17; these will be recorded and rebroadcast on August 22. On the night of the 22nd, the BBC World Theater presents its newly translated version of Aeschylus's "Agamemnon," first portion of the Oresteia trilogy. Also, on the evening of August 14, Muriel Bradbrook of Cambridge will discuss the plays of T. S. Eliot.

Three studio concerts are scheduled in this Folio, on August 9, 11, and 18. Ninety minutes of Lieder can be heard on the afternoon of August 10, and the night of the 11th will bring a program of music for percussion and tape recorder. In the field of jazz, Jim Bogen will present a Billie Holiday memorial program on August 17.

Public affairs programs include an exclusive interview with Attorney-General Mosk of California on August 9, and a discussion of psychiatry and the law on August 11. This Folio features addresses, under varying circumstances, by Walter Reuther of the AFL-CIO (August 10), James Murray of the Los Angeles Mirror-News (August 11), State Senator Richard Richards and Assemblyman Richard Hanna (August 12), and Professor Niels Bohr (August 14), all recorded by and for KPFK.
